

A decorative horizontal bar consisting of a double-headed arrow symbol on the left and a sequence of black dots of varying sizes on the right, arranged in a pattern that suggests motion or flow.

The image shows three horizontal rows of colored dots. The top row consists of green dots arranged in a pattern that represents the binary number 1010. The middle row consists of black dots arranged in a pattern that represents the binary number 1011. The bottom row consists of green dots arranged in a pattern that represents the binary number 1010.

The image shows a single row of Braille characters. From left to right, the characters are: a dot matrix representing 'W', followed by 'A', 'T', 'E', 'R'. Each character is composed of a 2x5 grid of dots, where the presence of a dot at a specific position indicates a raised dot in the physical Braille cell.

A horizontal line consisting of two segments with a gap between them. To the right of the gap is a vertical sequence of nine dots arranged in three groups: a top group of four dots, a middle group of three dots, and a bottom group of two dots.

A decorative horizontal pattern consisting of a sequence of black dots and open circles. The pattern starts with three open circles on the left, followed by a series of black dots, then a series of open circles, and finally a series of black dots on the right.

The image consists of two parts. On the left, there is a horizontal row of six solid black squares arranged in a single line. To the right of this row is a vertical column of black dots. The dots are arranged in a pattern where they increase in height from left to right, starting with one dot at the top and bottom, then two in the middle, three in the next section, four in the next, and five in the final section on the far right.
